

ROMANIAN JOURNAL OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

CALL FOR PAPERS

ISSUE NO. 5/ VOL. III

MAY, 2017

The Romanian Journal of Social Sciences (RJSS) is an international, multi-disciplinary, bi-annual newly established academic journal in the field of social studies. The journal is edited exclusively in English and it is published by the Romanian Association of Young Scholars (RAYs) in May and November. Given its interdisciplinary focus, the Romanian Journal of Social Sciences welcomes research that encompasses a diverse range of theoretical and empirical approaches, as long as they are highly articulated from a methodological perspective.

The aim of the Romanian Journal of Social Sciences is to provide a forum for academic interaction and research for post-doctoral researchers and PhD. candidates. RJSS seeks to promote new, cutting-edge research in the field of social sciences, particularly interdisciplinary studies on contemporary issues, but also encourages 'state of art' critical reviews.

RJSS welcomes contributions on any topic in the field of social sciences. We invite post-doctoral researchers and PhD. candidates to submit research papers, articles, case studies and book reviews written in English for the first issue of the Romanian Journal of Social Sciences. RJSS accepts both quantitative and qualitative studies, particularly those that focus on an interdisciplinary approach.

All articles submitted for the Romanian Journal of Social Sciences are subjected to an initial editor screening and then to a blind, double peer review process – and as such – should meet the standards of scientific significance, originality, clarity and academic rigor.

Submission of an article implies that it is the author's own original work and that it has not been submitted for review at another publication. Finally, all submissions which are not following the required format (as presented in the Author's Guidelines section) will be returned to the authors for modification.
